The good ship Sariah with colors hoisted to the top of the mast, gathered way before the prevailing winds of social and business life to a successful year on Graceland's sea of education.

Having tested the strength of the new recruits at Port Hill, and the scene of a successful reunion of the SS crew, the good ship Sariah sailed out of the harbor to begin the year's voyage. The helm was held by Captain Mann.

With functions, shindigs, purple-pond discussions, and a party celebrating the anniversary of the christening of the good ship Sariah, made the voyage an eventful one.

Again turning her nose homeward, the ship worked slowly toward port as if reluctant to end her travels. The colors were furled and placed in the hands of tomorrow's SS crew with the conviction that co-operation and good fellowship would enable them to add another successful voyage to the log of the good ship Sariah.

Sariah's House Song

Chorus: Welcome in we'd love to have you join our family.
It's a joy to have you with us and to share our songs of praise.
We know that you'll enjoy the joy you feel around you here.
Welcome in to the Family of God.

Can't you feel a special kind of new excitement
here?
You wonder why we look so happy when we talk about our Lord.
It's because he's more than just religion —
He's a part of us.
We belong to the Family of God.

Repeat Chorus.
